t005640 How to create a minimal morning makeup routine How to create a minimal morning makeup routine How to create a minimal morning makeup routine It ' s a common misconception that , in order to get a glowing complexion , you need to use foundation . Not true ! It ' s possible to give your skin a bit of a breather , especially in the summer heat and still look healthy and lit-from-within . You may be embracing a more low-key makeup look during lockdown . Or just want a quick routine in the morning . Either way , read on for our tips on creating a minimal makeup routine . Fill In Brows Whether it be pomade , powder , or pencil , go ahead and fill in your brows using your favourite product . This will give your brows shape and dimension as well as making your eyes pop . Or if you want to go for a more natural look , you can just swipe some brow gel through your hairs and you ' re done . Apply Primer Using a glowing , hydrating primer is the ideal applying it all over your face for a radiant look or to the high points so that it catches the light . If you have oily skin , you may want to use a mattifying primer to keep shine at bay . Lanc ? me La Base Pro Perfecting Make-up Primer Curl Lashes For a bright-eyed look , emphasising your lashes is a must . And to get a more voluminous appearance , it ' s best to use an eyelash curler . However , if you are going for a more low-key makeup look , feel free to forego your mascara . Touch Up Concealer To give your complexion a flawless appearance , use a concealer . Apply it under your eyes or anywhere you need a little extra coverage . Just make sure you are blending it into your skin for a streak-free finish . And to make sure it stays all day , do n't forget to use some powder . Highlight Grab your glowing highlighter and apply it to the high points of your face . We are talking about To ensure that there are no harsh lines , make sure you blend everything out well . If you are using a brush to apply your product , go back over it with a beauty sponge . For a shimmery highlighter that is easy to blend , use a liquid formula . Finish With Blush Now , this step is not necessary . However , we think it adds a subtle flush of colour that is perfect for your sun-kissed summer look . If you are worried about your blush melting off your skin during the summer heat , use a powder blush and be sure to
